EPOXY FLOOR COATING

PROTECT YOUR FARM WORKSHOP AND ENSURE COMPLIANCE FOR CHEMICAL SHEDS

Protecting your shed concrete floors from oil and chemical spills is essential, Australian standard 2507 (Ag-Vet) states; "All surfaces of the spillage containment system shall be non-porous and chemically resistant to all stored liquids." Epoxy flooring provides the perfect compliance solution - commonly used in domestic, industrial, and commercial settings, epoxy resin flooring offers exceptional protection and durability. Epoxy resin coatings are impervious to chemicals and oils, are non-slip for safety, and provide a resilient, durable, easy-to-clean flooring solution that stands the test of time.

>>> STAGE 1 - DIAMOND GRINDING

Applying epoxy flooring solutions involves several critical steps to ensure a durable and smooth finish. First, the floor is prepared with three-phase diamond floor grinders - diamond grinders are equipped with four planetary rotating discs each fitted with 4 industrial diamond shoes that act to clean, level, and smooth the concrete surface.

STAGE 2 - CLEAN + PRIME COAT <<<

This grinding process removes surface imperfections and laitance providing a key for the floor coating while minimising dust through industrial vacuum extraction. Once the floor is properly prepared, it is thoroughly cleaned and vacuumed to remove any debris. At this stage, the prime coat of epoxy is applied.

>>> STAGE 3 - TOP COAT

Finally, the epoxy top coat is applied, resulting in a high-quality, resilient flooring solution. Consider leaving a section of floor untreated for welding as pictured to the left as this can burn the surface.

Are you looking for a durable protective solution for your concrete floor? Get in contact with us today.
