Talicia Griffin.

The crowd laughed as Jack Coleman, Jamie Bretman and Simon Wright performed in household wheelie bins on Wednesday the 1st of June at Kondinin Town Hall.

Their act was full of laughter and they did a lot of handstands and backflips. They had races, hid in their bins and ran through rows of chairs.

I would recommend it for the whole family. This is a five star act.

Trash Test Dummies Review

The three performers in Trash Test Dummies did amazing stunts like back-flips, handstands and even standing on each others heads.

I'm pretty sure that the audience liked it when The Trash Test dummies came off stage and into the aisles. They also threw small and big balls into the audience and of course, the audience threw the balls back them was funny. By the look at all the stunts they did I'm guessing that you'd have to be fit and strong.

The Trash Test Dummies have travelled all around WA and are still going. They've been travelling for two years and won an award of the Adelaide Fringe Festival.

Judging by the laughter everyone found it funny and exciting to have in Kondinin and I also believe that everyone had a great time. I'd definitely recommend that you'd go see this performance and I'd give this a five out of five star rating.
